

Director's Letter

Please remember every pound and meal offers hope. If you are a volunteer or staff, know your work helps people with meal preparation. It is not always easy with weather or less varieties of food to select from, know the end goal is to help people. One day at a time, one distribution at a time, we will work together to feed Siouxland. I am thankful for each agency which distributes food; from George, to Oakland, to Kiron, to Marcus, to Sioux City, we each are important to those who going through food insecurity.

As the Food Bank staff kicks off the 2023 calendar year, please keep in mind what you and your agency can use help with. Could you use shelving, refrigerator, freezer, or bags? A focus for the Food Bank is to look for more grants. During the search, staff can share to information to help with some of these infrastructure pieces. Further, I will work Jake to develop a survey of your clients. I do not want it to be a difficult process for your agency, and we will try to create it as an electronic version so there is not paperwork you have to collect. The design of the survey will help determine things like purchased product preferences and what services are lacking throughout Siouxland.

Bulk Products

Any bulk products received from the Food Bank, such as Curly's meat or Dutchland pastries, need to be handed out to clients by the box. The individually-wrapped product inside of the box does not have a nutrition label with ingredient list, but the box does.

This is of utmost importance for food safety.

REMINDER:

Delivery times are always subject to change. At this time, we have one delivery driver to deliver product to all of our agencies across Siouxland. We ask for your patience and flexibility while we continue to do our best to provide exceptional service. .
